They call once to twice everyday for the past two years now. About a year ago I was finally able to answer them in time, a man on the other end asked for an "Elizabeth" in a very formal tone and I told him to change the damn number because there is no Elizabeth. I wasn't bothered for about three months until this new number came up under this supposed "Diversified Consultants" constantly asking for Elizabeth in an automated message about some important business thing.

I hate them so much.

THIS NUMBER 651-829-8106 calls everyday. I keep telling them I do not know the person they are calling for and stop calling. The people calling keep saying they can not stop calling as it is a auto dialer. The women was very rude to me this time. Just because my last name is ANDERSON does not mean I know every Anderson in the world. This is so out of control. I work late nights and have to answer phone calls so when this happens it is very madding.

Your knocking at the wrong house

19 Dec 2012

They pose as a debt collectors. Even a respected (LOL) debt collector need to follow the FCC guideline.

It's an automated dialer which does not have any feature of removing your number from it's system.

They have demonstrated time and time again that they do not follow the FCC guideline. Since they assume that you are somehow related to that person of who they are looking for.

Even if you never know the person of whom they are looking for. They will continually to call and continue to try to get your money from you instead.

One of their company motto is. "Knock on the neighbor door and try to collect the same money each day. If you get the wrong house. Come back tomorrow and knock on the same house again and assume it is the correct house your looking for."

There are anti-stalking rules in this country. Diversified Consultants violated that rule too.

File Report

Should I File a Complaint?

If you are getting harrassing calls from this number, the answer is yes.
By filing a complaint, you are making the nature of the calls known to more people, including the caller. The more complaints a certain number receives, the more exposure it gets. This helps make the calls stop by reducing the efficiency of the caller's operations. Also, when a certain number receives a lot of complaints, we investigate the matter and report the number to the proper authorities.
